A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on October 2, 2006 has been entered.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 3, 5-8 & 10-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over PAJ (10-113145).

This reference was cited as an X reference in an international search report. PAJ discloses treating pan-fried seasoning that is added to a wok or a frying pan to season the foods while heating. The product reduces splashing of fat, oil and moisture during cooking. The composition is an o/w emulsion containing 10-50% fat, 0.03-0.3 wt% emulsifier having an HLB of greater than or equal to 7, a viscosity of 1000-7000 centipoises at 20 C and an average oil drop particle size of less than or equal to 30 um.

The selected emulsifiers include glycerol fatty acid ester, monoglyceride, sorbitan fatty acid ester and enzyme decomposition of lecithin (see abstract). In the machine assisted translation at paragraph 007 of the detailed description, polyglycerol fatty acid ester or sucrose fatty acid ester is a suggested emulsifier, as required in claim 3. 0-10% biopolymer is disclosed as an ingredient in paragraph 0020 of the detailed description. Claim 1 appears to differ from the reference in the recitation of the specific Bostwick value of the product but the Bostwick value is known in the art to be a measure of how pourable the composition is. Since the composition of PAJ is used as a seasoning for pan-frying or stir-frying, one of ordinary skill in the art would have expected it to be pourable. Although DATEM is not one of the specific emulsifiers used in PAJ, no unobvious or unexpected results are seen from the selection of this specific emulsifier because the emulsifiers in PAJ show the same utility as that described by applicant. It is appreciated that the pH of the composition is not mentioned but the pH range selected is a range typically found in foods. No claim is allowed.

Applicant argues that PAJ uses more than 50 wt% oil or fat in his process and that when the product has more than 50% oil, the food is greasy. This argument has been considered but is not persuasive. No unobvious or unexpected difference is seen from the use of more than 50% oil when compared to 50% oil in the PAJ process. The seasoning in PAJ appears to be added to an oily stir fry pan and so this would be add more oil to the seasoning composition. There is no evidence in the file to show that the added oil in PAJ would substantially alter the emulsion of the claims. Applicant argues that PAJ teaches away from using more than 0.3wt% emulsifier. This is disagreed with because page 5 appears to state just the opposite. Applicant urges that salt is not mentioned in PAJ but since this is for a stir-fried dish, one of ordinary skill in the art would expect that the stir-fry is liberally treated with soy sauce, a rich source of salt. To add or subtract salt from a seasoning product would have been an obvious way to modify the salt to taste. Applicant urges that the reference does not show the advantages of salt and lecithin in anti-spattering. This argument has been considered but is not persuasive because the claims, as written, do not require an anti-spattering feature.

This is a Continued Examination of applicant's earlier Application No. 10/005702. All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the earlier application and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the earlier application. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action in this case. See MPEP § 706.07(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no, however, event will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
